

How to Collect Urine From Your Dog

1. There are several ways to collect a urine sample from your dog. For female dogs, try using an aluminum pie pan attached to a broomstick. Simply place the pan in the urine flow.

2. For male dogs, you can open a wire hanger, form a loop at one end and place a plastic cup in the loop. Place the cup in the path of the urine flow.

3. If the urine sample is for your veterinarian's analysis, transfer it to another container provided or suggested by your veterinarian. This sample should be given to your veterinarian as soon as possible.
4. To temporarily store the sample, place it in the refrigerator. For the most accurate results, the sample should be tested within one half-hour and certainly within two hours.
