

How to Medicate a Dog

If your veterinarian prescribes oral medication for your dog, these tips may help.

1. When giving your dog tablets, it is easiest to hide them in a soft treat like a piece of cheese or small amount of canned food. See Figure 1

2. If you offer this as a treat before the regular meal, your dog should willingly accept it.

3. To give your dog a liquid medication, insert the dropper between the teeth and cheek, far enough so the medication doesn't dribble from the dog's mouth. While tilting the chin upward, slowly dispense the medication. See Figure 2
